

Banco Agricola, S.A.

Key Rating Drivers

Country Risk Limits IDR Driven by Bancolombia's Support: Banco Agricola, S.A.'s (Agricola or the bank) Long-Term Issuer Default Rating (IDR) reflects Fitch Ratings' assessment of the ability and propensity of its ultimate parent, Bancolombia S.A. (Bancolombia; 'BB+' / Stable), to provide support if required. Bancolombia's ability to support Agricola is highly influenced by the constraints El Salvador's Country Ceiling of 'B' imposes on the bank's rating. The Negative Rating Outlook on Agricola's IDR is in line with the Negative Rating Outlook on El Salvador's sovereign rating.

Challenging Operating Environment: Agricola's Viability Rating (VR) of 'b-' is highly influenced by El Salvador's challenging operating environment (OE), which, in Fitch's view, will continue to pressure the bank's financial performance in 2021, as well as its peers, although partially mitigated by its leading franchise. Once the credit relief measures expired the asset quality deterioration became visible; however, the prudent and additional loan loss allowances (LLA) made in 2020 will allow the bank to continue managing the asset quality deterioration.

Leading Local Franchise: Agricola's VR also reflects, with high importance, its company profile characterized by its leading franchise in the local credit and deposits markets and a diversified business model.

Visibility of Loan Quality: Fitch expects Agricola's asset quality deterioration to be lower than 2020. As the relief measures expired, the non-performing loans (NPL) to gross loans ratio increased to 2.2% as of 1H21, a high for the periods analyzed (average 2017-2020: 1.5%). However, the LLA coverage of NPLs (225%) remains ample to absorb unexpected losses.

Profitability Stabilizing: Despite the challenging conditions in the OE, Fitch expects that Agricola's profitability will benefit from the business expansion in 2021, supported by its leading franchise and lower LLAs given the ample reserves. Agricola's profitability is stabilizing, although it is still below pre-pandemic levels. During the 1H21, the operating profits to risk-weighted assets (RWA) ratio remained at 2.0% sustained by increasing contribution from non-interest income and the control of the operating efficiency that offset the continued decreasing trend in the net interest margin and a still relatively high LLAs.

Adequate Capitalization: Since the bank will not distribute any dividends in 2021, its capital position allows it to absorb the expected business expansion. Agricola's capitalization core metric as of June 2021 increased but remained below pre-pandemic levels. The Fitch Core Capital (FCC) to RWA ratio stood at 13.8%. The constitution of additional LICs also contributes to the bank's loss absorption capacity.

Robust Funding and Liquidity: Fitch believes Agricola's liquidity risk is mitigated by its solid franchise in deposits, its reasonable liquidity levels and the ample access to alternative sources of funding. Agricola's deposit base's participation in the funding structure continued increasing in 1H21 driven by its leading franchise. The loans to customer deposits ratio slightly increased to 84.8% in 1H21, a level still below pre-pandemic records.

Rating Sensitivities

Factors that could, individually or collectively, lead to negative rating action/downgrade:

- Agricola's ratings remain highly sensitive to changes in El Salvador's sovereign rating and country ceiling. Negative changes in the bank's IDR and SR would mirror negative changes in El Salvador's sovereign rating and country ceiling.

- Any perception by Fitch of a reduced strategic importance of Agricola to Bancolombia may trigger a downgrade of Agricola's IDRs, SR and National Ratings. This perception would also apply to IFBA's national ratings.
- Agricola's IDRs could be downgraded by a multi-notch downgrade of Bancolombia's IDRs; however, this scenario is unlikely in the rating horizon given Bancolombia's Stable Rating Outlook.
- A slower than expected recovery, which could lead to a downward revision of Fitch's assessment of the OE score for Salvadoran's banks, would pressure Agricola's VR. Downgrades of Agricola's VR could also come from a material deterioration in the bank's financial profile that results in constant operating losses, and an FCC-to-RWA ratio consistently below 10%.
- Agricola's senior secured and unsecured debt National Ratings would be downgraded in the event of negative rating actions on the bank's National Ratings.

Factors that could, individually or collectively, lead to positive rating action/upgrade:

- The Negative Rating Outlook on Agricola's IDR indicates positive actions in the ratings are highly unlikely in the foreseeable future. However, over the medium term, Agricola's IDR, SR and VR, could be upgraded in the event of an upgrade of El Salvador's sovereign rating and country ceiling.
- The upside potential of the VR is limited due to the challenging OE as a result of the impact of the economic challenges. The VR could only be upgraded over the medium term by an improvement of the OE accompanied by consistent financial metrics while maintaining its robust company profile.
- The national ratings of Agricola, IFBA and Agricola's senior secured and unsecured debt are at the highest level of the national rating scale.

The bank's Support Rating (SR) reflects Fitch's opinion of a limited probability of support because of the heightened risks in the OE. The bank's SR is based on Fitch's opinion of Bancolombia's ability and propensity to support Agricola, if needed. Agricola's SR is also constrained by El Salvador's sovereign rating, as reflected in the Country Ceiling. Per Fitch criteria, Agricola's IDR of 'B' corresponds to an SR of '4'.

Environmental, Social and Governance Considerations

FitchRatings Banco Agricola, S.A.

Credit-Relevant ESG Derivation

Banco Agricola, S.A. has 5 ESG potential rating drivers

- ➔ Banco Agricola, S.A. has exposure to compliance risks including fair lending practices, mis-selling, repossession/foreclosure practices, consumer data protection (data security) but this has very low impact on the rating.
- ➔ Governance is minimally relevant to the rating and is not currently a driver.

How to Read This Page

ESG scores range from 1 to 5 based on a 15-level color gradation. Red (5) is most relevant and green (1) is least relevant.

The Environmental (E), Social (S) and Governance (G) tables break out the individual components of the scale. The right-hand box shows the aggregate E, S, or G score. General Issues are relevant across all markets with Sector-Specific Issues unique to a particular industry group. Scores are assigned to each sector-specific issue. These scores signify the credit-relevance of the sector-specific issues to the issuing entity's overall credit rating. The Reference box highlights the factor(s) within which the corresponding ESG issues are captured in Fitch's credit analysis.

The Credit-Relevant ESG Derivation table shows the overall ESG score. This score signifies the credit relevance of combined E, S and G issues to the entity's credit rating. The three columns to the left of the overall ESG score summarize the issuing entity's sub-component ESG scores. The box on the far left identifies some of the main ESG issues that are drivers or potential drivers of the issuing entity's credit rating (corresponding with scores of 3, 4 or 5) and provides a brief explanation for the score.

Classification of ESG issues has been developed from Fitch's sector ratings criteria. The General Issues and Sector-Specific Issues draw on the classification standards published by the United Nations Principles for Responsible Investing (PRI) and the Sustainability Accounting Standards Board (SASB).

CREDIT-RELEVANT ESG SCALE
How relevant are E, S and G issues to the overall credit rating?
5	Highly relevant, a key rating driver that has a significant impact on the rating on an individual basis. Equivalent to "higher" relative importance within Navigator.
4	Relevant to rating, not a key rating driver but has an impact on the rating in combination with other factors. Equivalent to "moderate" relative importance within Navigator.
3	Minimally relevant to rating, either very low impact or actively managed in a way that results in no impact on the entity rating. Equivalent to "lower" relative importance within Navigator.
2	Irrelevant to the entity rating but relevant to the sector.
1	Irrelevant to the entity rating and irrelevant to the sector.

Unless otherwise disclosed in this section, the highest level of ESG credit relevance is a score of '3'. This means ESG issues are credit-neutral or have only a minimal credit impact on the entity, either due to their nature or the way in which they are being managed by the entity.
